Little Johnny Learns Eye Was Removed

ATLANTA (AP) — Five-year-old Johnny Pair knows now that he must live the rest of his life in darkness.

But he's taking the grim news calmly, learning to feel his way about, riding his tricycle, and playing to the best of his ability. Johnny's cancerous right eye was removed Monday two years after the left eye was taken out in an effort to stop the spread of the malignancy. No one wanted to tell Johnny that he could never see again.

Yesterday his mother, Mrs. Bessie Pair, took him to Grady Hospital to have the bandages changed and the doctor decided it was time Johnny knew.

"The eye was sick and I had to take it out to keep you alive," the doctor said. "When I take this bandage off, don't open your eye because you won't be able to see, Johnny. You won't ever be able to see again, but you'll be all right."

"It's a great relief for me," said his mother. "I had dreaded what might happen when he was told he was blind. But he took it like a little man. I hope he understands. I believe he does."

Mrs. Pair said the doctor told her to "let Johnny do everything as usual — or at least let him try to do the things he is used to."

So when Johnny returned home, his mother let him ride his tricycle, go down the sliding board in the yard and play with some of the neighborhood boys. But she kept watch on him all the time. Johnny felt his way around the rooms, touching furniture and other articles and asking his mother to tell him what they were.

At one point he felt his way to the refrigerator for some mayonnaise to spread on a piece of bread. His mother told him she would get it, but Johnny said: "No, I'll get it. You just tell me when I'm touching it."

Adco Research Director Speaks Before Jaycees

Dr. J. C. Alexander, director of research for Adco, Inc., was the guest speaker at the Jaycees' regular meeting Thursday night.

In his talk he pointed out the effect of Adco and other local industries on the local business. He said the Adco payroll amounted to $381,000 last year.

Adco manufactures over 100 products, mostly in the dry cleaning line. It was noted that Adco is the largest manufacturer of dry cleaning chemicals in the United States and has distributors in every continent.

Figures quoted by Dr. Alexander from the U.S. Census Bureau showed that there was over one billion dollars spent for dry cleaning in the United States in one year. The Adco firm was founded by J. R. Van Dyne, Sr., in 1908 and Dr. Alexander said it is thought to be the second oldest local firm.

The Jaycees met at the Bothwell Hotel in the Ambassador Room and it was voted by the general membership to continue the meetings there.

Adlai Leads Young Demos To California

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, who accuses President Eisenhower of "inaction" and "deception," led five Democrats today on a flying campaign through California.

"We have had enough of inaction and self-advertising," he said.

He contended that "when we lose ground abroad, we are assured that all is well" and he added: "I don't think" the public likes "to be told by Mr. Dulles and President Eisenhower that American prestige 'has never been higher,' when it is manifestly untrue."

The Democratic presidential nominee made his latest attack on the GOP regime in a speech for a rally at Oakland last night before he broke camp for his swing south to Fresno, Long Beach and San Diego.

With him were three governors, George Leader of Pennsylvania, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey and Frank G. Clement of Tennessee, and two senators — Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Albert M. Gore of Tennessee.

Their plans to "saturate" California in a bid for its critical 32 electoral votes called for them to fan out with Stevenson as he worked south, holding rallies of their own around him.

All of them but Clement, who was late in joining the group, appeared with Stevenson last night on a nationwide television broadcast from San Francisco. They talked about Stevenson's proposal to give federal loans and grants to a voluntary private health insurance plan aimed at training more doctors and building more hospitals.

"In four years of this administration," Stevenson said, "no real breakthrough in the battle for the people's health has been proposed."

Teacher Ignores Board Request For Resignation

MONTICELLO, Fla. (AP) — A schoolteacher who came to the defense of Dr. Deborah Coggins and says she has been asked to resign as a result, plans to continue to teach her fifth-grade class.

Mrs. Flo Way, 33 year-old Monticello elementary school teacher, said she "exercised her right of free speech in defending Dr. Coggins, fired this month as health officer of three North Florida counties for having a business lunch with a Negro nurse."

"At the present moment, I do not intend to resign," Mrs. Way said.

Chairman L. G. Morris of the Jefferson County School Board said he does not anticipate further action against Mrs. Way, who has a "continuing contract" and can only be discharged for causes listed in the state school law.

"She certainly is under no legal compulsion to resign," said State Supt. Thomas D. Bailey at Tallahassee.

Mrs. Way spoke in behalf of Dr. Coggins at a meeting here Sept. 27 of commissioners of three counties the physician served as health officer. The teacher, a native of Florida, said she favors segregation but opposed the action against Dr. Coggins.

At Madison, Dr. Coggins — who had served Madison, Jefferson and Taylor counties as health officer — said she regrets "very much" that the Jefferson County School Board feels it necessary to subject Mrs. Way to this treatment.

Nixon Accuses Of 'Hoax' On Farmers

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) — Vice President Nixon accused Democrats today of "a cruel hoax" to snare the farm vote.

The high rigid price support policies they advocate, Nixon said in a talk prepared for the National Mechanical Corn Picking Contest, would slam a lid on what he termed "the upward trend in farm income."

To farmers, considered by both parties to be restive this election year, Nixon said:

"The get-rich-quick promises that our opponents have made... are just as impossible to keep with the type of program they advocate as would be their promise to guarantee rain in the drought-stricken areas."

Nixon urged the farmers to put their faith in the administration program that includes flexible price supports, a soil bank plan under which farmers can qualify for benefits by taking some land out of production, and efforts to increase markets for farm products.

This program, Nixon said, "is working and will continue to work because it cuts right to the heart of the problem."

Nixon's foray into the farm battlefield followed by a day his report to Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson's charge the Republican administration has shown indifference to the interests of labor, the unemployed and other segments of society.

The vice president stepped up his campaign pace with a speech at Boulder, Colo., last night in which he described Stevenson's proposals for the economic future as "Alice in Wonderland" economics, "a costly grab-bag of government goodies" that would cost 15 to 20 billion dollars annually, raising the average family's taxes $320 a year if the budget were to be balanced.

Six Young Poles Get Six Year Sentences For Posnan Riots

POZNAN, Poland (AP) — Six young Poles were jailed today for terms up to six years for their part in the June Poznan riots. Two others were acquitted and a ninth received a suspended sentence.

The sentences were pronounced in Poznan trial No. 2 of so-called "criminal elements" involved in the "bread and freedom" riots which began June 28.

The relatively light sentences—on charges which could have netted the death penalty—strengthened the widespread opinion in Poland that the Communist government may abandon trials of more than 100 still to be brought to court.

The eight men sentenced to imprisonment today faced a variety of charges in a 33-page indictment, including firing at the Poznan secret police headquarters, attacking soldiers and army tanks, freeing prisoners and looting.

Weatherman Sounds Hopeful for Moisture

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The weatherman sounded a little more hopeful today about some moisture for Missouri.

He reported moisture from the Gulf had moved as far north as Fort Worth, Tex., and "the pattern is becoming more favorable but no immediate relief is in sight from the prolonged drought."

tion, calls for advance gifts to begin work Oct. 17 and conclude Oct. 31. The men's division will kick off Oct. 29 and finish Nov. 9. Women's division soliciting will start Nov. 2 and end Nov. 12. Certification of results will then be made, and the official final report of the campaign will then be made, and the official final report of the campaign will be presented Nov. 16.

This year solicitation will be under the "unit system" whereby each industry or business will be treated as an individual entity, with the company, its executives and its employees being handled by the same solicitor. This is the method used in practically every large fund drive to assure maximum coverage with a minimum of waste motion.

"There is one point we wish to stress in so far as families in which husband and wife are both employed," Denny concluded. "Where two or more members of a family have incomes, each individual should make his or her own personal contribution, using the established formula of one hour's pay per month for 12 months as a basis. In this way, one wage earner is not asked or expected to carry another wage earners load."

Columbus Day; Ike Day...

If it hadn't been for Columbus discovering America, then America would not likely be celebrating the birthday anniversary of President Eisenhower, two events which are being observed this weekend.

Today it is Columbus Day when: "In 1492 what did Columbus do? In 1492 he sailed the ocean blue." Anyway that is the rhyme school children used a few generations ago to remember the discovery of America. History records that on October 12 Columbus and his crew sighted what was later to become known as Cat Island in the Bahamas. They landed on its sandy beach. Everybody on the Pinta, Nina and Santa Maria were dizzy with elation, but were never to know they had clinched a belief of wiser heads that the world was round.

Loyal Norsemen have long contended Leif Ericson beat Christopher C. to the draw by landing in Vinland — New England — about 1000 A. D.

Regardless of which sturdy adventurer was inspired by faith to steer tiny boats across the deep Atlantic on a quest for greener pastures, Columbus got his name in the history books first so on this day of 1956 a lot of folks get an extra holiday away from work. Also many admirers of Columbus and what he stood for in the eyes of the Church celebrate October 12 as the day on which to pay this intrepid Italian a deserving tribute.

President Eisenhower has been having birthday anniversaries ever since he was born October 14, 1890 in Texas. There's some dispute whether this event occurred in Denison or several other towns in which the roaming Eisenhower family had lived then.

This seems to be the year in which more attention is being paid Ike's anniversary and some Democrats suspect it is because 1956 is an election year and October 14 is so close to November 6. No matter, the Democrats are being asked to join in the big birthday celebration this year. Sedalia Republicans planned a big fling-ding Friday night at Smith-Cotton cafeteria to honor President Ike and anyone else whose birthday falls on October 14.

Even Mayor Julian Bagby, whose inclinations are to vote Democratic, was not a bit non-plussed when W. D. Smith, Republican war-horse, handed him a mimeographed proclamation on "Ike Day 1956" to sign. Bagby looked at it this way. He is mayor for all Sedalians and Ike is president for all the people, so party politics on this occasion — Ike's birthday — is out the window.

The proclamation sets October 13 as the day to be observed. The birthday is October 14, and Sedalia's celebration takes place on October 12. All of which may be a bit confusing but not any more so that who discovered America for sure.

Let's see how many American flags will be waving Saturday. That's part of the mayor's proclamation "to display the flag of the United States on Ike day and to join together in paying a warm tribute to a great and beloved American."

Definitely Americans are glad this land was discovered so they could be here today to celebrate Ike's anniversary.

The World Today—

Need a Scoreboard to Follow Campaign

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — You need more than a scoreboard to follow the players in the presidential campaign.

For a while yesterday it seemed Adlai Stevenson would be in a one-sided conversation if he wanted to keep on talking about ending the draft and the H-bomb tests.

President Eisenhower said he was finished discussing it. But Vice President Nixon said he'd continue talking about it although he said Eisenhower was right in not talking about it.

And while Eisenhower picked one issue as the main one in the campaign, Nixon picked another and said he saw no conflict. Meanwhile, Stevenson seems to have trouble deciding what the main issue is.

Stevenson had drawn Eisenhower into an argument about the draft and the bomb test by suggesting efforts toward ending both. Eisenhower repeatedly answered "No" but this didn't keep Stevenson quiet.

Then yesterday at his news conference Eisenhower was asked to comment on a rumor that his "Republican strategists" had planned to announce an end to the draft and the bomb tests but that Stevenson beat them to the punch.

Eisenhower said this was news to him. He added: "Now, I tell you frankly I have said my last words on these subjects."

But he kept right on talking about them, even though indirectly, by declaring his administration had done everything it could to protect America.

While this was happening in Washington, Nixon was campaigning out West.

He announced he would continue to speak of what he called Stevenson's "unsound proposals on both subjects."

Perhaps because Eisenhower and Nixon are on opposite sides of the country they haven't been comparing notes lately. Or maybe they didn't compare them in the first place on what the main campaign issues are.

On Wednesday Nixon said the issue most persons are concerned about is peace. Yesterday Eisenhower said the big campaign issue is management of this country's internal affairs since, he said, nobody is against peace, progress or prosperity.

Nixon, when he learned of this in Nevada, said he saw no conflict between what he said and what Eisenhower said.

But if the two Republican candidates seem to have trouble deciding what the issues are, Stevenson also gives signs of having several main issues.

On Sept. 13 Stevenson said: "It is a central issue in this election . . . whether America wants to stay on dead center, mired in complacency . . . or whether it wants . . . to move forward . . . to build a new America."

On Sept. 24 he said the conflict between him and the Republicans "is fundamentally how to preserve the little fellow, the individual, the many, from being engulfed by the big fellow, the few."

The same day Stevenson said: "One of the central issues in this election is which party means what it says and which party is only talking."

The more the candidates scramble around, looking for issues, the more they make it appear the issues are pretty thin. If the voters are getting bored with this campaign, that's probably one of the reasons why.

Adlai Must Return East—

Big Vote Area Not Pinned Down by Demo Campaigner

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson's campaign is now whirling so fast that the impact of his efforts in specific areas is blurred.

This week he spins down the West Coast. Next week he whistles stops his way through Michigan and Indiana. Last week he rushed across seven eastern states.

He has to carry some of the eastern states he visited last week. If he doesn't, there's hardly a chance the Democrats will recapture the White House. Here's a state-by-state rundown of the outlook at this time:

New Jersey is considered safe for the Republicans. If Ike can't take the Garden State, he can't take Vermont.

Pennsylvania isn't safe for either party. Stevenson can take it. Indeed, he must, to win. Senator James Duff, Republican, may be unseated by Democrat Joseph Clark.

West Virginia should be safe for Adlai. It's one state where he will probably run ahead of his party. Chapman Revercomb is running for the Senate. He has an outside chance of upending Democrat Matthew Neely.

New York is the big one, and the Republicans seem to have the edge. According to some observers, the New York Democrats are not putting their shoulders behind the wheel. Maybe that's because Governor Harriman and his Tammany lieutenant, Carmine De Sapio, still smart from their licking at the Chicago convention.

Connecticut is probably a safe Eisenhower state. Democratic Governor Abe Ribicoff is very popular. He isn't up this year. But the state organization will go all out for Adlai.

Rhode Island should be in the bag for Stevenson. But it may not be. Experienced politicians there say Ike may repeat his 1952 triumph by picking up its four electoral votes.

Massachusetts is another fighting state. Adlai is backed by Senator John Kennedy. The party is pulling together. The Democrats have a chance.

Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania haven't seen the last of Stevenson. He'll be going back to all of them. He has to visit the Boston area, where the big vote in Massachusetts is concentrated. He has to visit Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. And New York is too important not to give it the big try.

More than two million pupils in Mexico primary and secondary schools are given medical service by the Ministry of Health.

Biggest Mailing of Senate Propaganda

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Those who pass by the "Folding Room" in the Senate office building of late have seen mountains of mail piled up outside. Week by week the mail has mounted. Every day Post Office trucks eat into the massive pile, but every day the human beavers inside the folding room replenish the pile outside.

The activity of the folding room has overflowed into room 155 of the Senate office building, and also into room 154. Still the work goes on. It is the greatest mailing of Senate propaganda ever put out in the history of the U. S. Senate—a Senate which has seen a lot of mailings by oratorical-minded Senators who want their speeches read back home.

Careful inquiry regarding this record mailing reveals some interesting facts.

Last July 27 Sen. Tom Martin, Republican of Iowa, gave a speech in defense of Secretary Benson and the Eisenhower administration on the farm problem. Nobody paid too much attention to the speech at the time. But apparently that speech was part of a carefully calculated plan to swamp the farm belt with literature just before election and that is the reason for the unprecedented activity in the Senate folding room today.

For a total of 4,000,000 reprints of Senator Martin's speech is being mailed out to farmers.

This is a lot of mail. To handle it, the folding room, which is the name given to the machinery set up for sending out Senators' speeches, has gone to a lot of extra expense.

Extra sealing machines have been purchased. Forty extra employees have been hired. Extra labor has been drafted from the government printing office. Every possible piece of equipment is being used on the job. The operation has been going on a 24-hour basis, with many employees paid time-and-a-half and double time.

Taxpayers Foot Cost

Spreading out into overflow space, 15 women have been working in room 155 folding copies of Senator Martin's speech and stuffing them into envelopes at $1.61 an hour. In room 154 two men work in three-hour shifts around the clock bagging envelopes, also at $1.61 an hour. They are paid not by Senator Martin or the Republican National Committee, but by all the taxpayers.

Careful checking as to the total cost of operation "Pacify the Farmers" shows that it will cost the taxpayers $200,000. This, of course, comes out of the pockets of nonfarmers as well as farmers and out of the pockets of Democrats as well as Republicans. It is one of the biggest pieces of free political propaganda Len Hall's astute workers have been able to put across.

On Senator Martin's speech is the notation:

Guest Editorial—

OMAHA WORLD-HERALD: Praise From A Norwegian. The Norwegian composer Klaus Egge cites American rhythm as one of the greatest inspirations during his recent visit to many parts of the United States.

In 11 weeks, Egge heard 10 leading symphony orchestras, besides innumerable other concerts. In his opinion, the Boston and the Philadelphia symphonies are tops.

What impressed the composer more than anything else was the broad basis of the musical education at United States universities and colleges.

Mr. Egge, who has been president of the Norwegian composers' Society since 1945, said soon it would be unnecessary for Americans to go to Europe for advanced musical studies. American composers, he observed, are endeavoring to develop an American music that expresses the spirits of our age, without being inhibited by European traditions. He deplored, however, that United States orchestras do not play more works by contemporary composers.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Columbus Day is the anniversary of the discovery of America in 1492. Prior to that event most of the people then alive thought that there was little, if anything, new in the world to discover. Nearly everyone thought it would be sheer folly to seek for anything beyond the limits of the world which had already been explored.

Now we know that there was many new lands and seas to be charted beyond the horizons of the fifteenth century. The geographical discoveries were to be dwarfed by the discoveries in the realm of physics, chemistry, psychology and sociology.

Every year, and almost every day since the first Columbus Day, there have been explorations and discoveries which have changed the course of history. Even today we know that there is much to be discovered beyond the mental and spiritual horizons of the twentieth century.

All of us, as individuals, can explore beyond the narrow confines of our lives, and discover God. He has a different place in the life of every person, because our experiences, our beliefs, and our needs are all different. Exploration always takes one into uncharted realms. Some folk have taken parallel courses, but the ways or the ends are always new to the explorer.

Let us set out to discover God for ourselves in spite of the discouraging advice of anyone who may feel that there is nothing new to discover.

5 Basic Facts about newspapers

Newspapers are often referred to as basic in the gathering and distribution of news and advertising. In fact, we have referred to them in this manner in our own promotion advertisements. There are many reasons why newspapers are basic . . . here are just five of twenty-seven reasons recently given by Market Research Corporation of America and The Bureau of Advertising:

- Nearly everybody reads a newspaper nearly every day.
- Practically every sale of every manufactured product will be made to a newspaper reader.
- Hence a newspaper is basic and the effective use of its advertising columns constitutes the most powerful and the most profitable advertising force in existence, any day and every day.
- For decades, the audited circulation of newspaper's has kept pace with the increasing number of households. Newspaper sales have more than doubled since 1920. This growth (during the period which saw the advent of both radio and television) reflects the ever-present demand for the news as only the newspaper can present it: Complete and correct.
- People read ads as eagerly as they read the news. This has been shown by the Continuing Study of Newspaper Reading. An analysis of readership by type of content shows that advertising ranks third among men readers just ahead of sports news; among women, advertising is in first place. This readership is entirely voluntary. In this very receptive atmosphere the advertiser can register solid impact in the selling of his products and ideas. In preservable form, the ads can be saved from the paper for further study, reference and action.

The Sedalia Democrat-Capital has kept pace with the national growth of newspaper circulation. In 1930, the circulation of these newspapers was slightly in excess of 5,600 copies daily. During the month of September 1956, The Democrat-Capital produced a daily average slightly in excess of 13,000 copies and circulation continues to grow as these newspapers serve more and more Central Missouri families, who look to these publications as their basic source of news and advertising.

Chicago Cubs Believe Old Brooms Best

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs are convinced that old brooms sweep cleaner.

They were expected to complete their house cleaning today by naming Bob Scheffing, one of their ex-catchers, as field manager.

There isn't much of a new look in the Cubs' shakeup from front office to the field which started yesterday when Personnel Director Wid Matthews, Business Manager Jim Gallagher and skipper Stan Hack resigned.

Returning to his third hitch with the club is Charlie Grimm. Joining him in the reorganized front office is John Holland, in baseball 35 of his 46 years and on the Cub pay roll the last 11.

They were given titles of vice president.

Holland, as president of the Cubs' Los Angeles farm in the Pacific Coast League, and Scheffing as field manager, produced a pennant this year.

Remaining as executive vice president of the Cubs is another veteran, 75-year-old Clarence (Pants) Rowland.

They have the assignment of lifting the Cubs up by the bootstraps after 10 dismal seasons in the National League second division.

The Cubs finished 1956 in last place for the fourth time since 1949 and with 94 defeats, worst record in their history.

Matthews was Branch Rickey's "talent man" with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers when Cub owner P. K. Wrigley hired him in 1950. He is a smiling, 59-year-old gentleman who sincerely thought the Cubs were on the climb and received the brunt of criticism when they kept tailspinning.

No sooner had Wid resigned than Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, said that he "is a very capable fellow and we'd like to have him in our organization."

Gallagher, a former Chicago sports writer, had been with the Cubs since 1940. One rumor has him winding up across town with the White Sox.

Hack was a long-time third baseman for the Cubs and managed the Des Moines and Los Angeles farm clubs before replacing one of his former teammates, Phil Cavarretta, at the helm in the spring of 1954. He was the Bruins' fourth manager in eight years.

Key man in the new order appears to be Holland, a stocky, middle-aged man who cut his teeth on a baseball bat.

There won't be any title except that of vice president," said Wrigley. "The only time you have to designate authority is when there is a conflict. There definitely will be no general manager. I'm allergic to them."

Vice President Grimm, however, said that "Holland is the 'general manager' and will run the show. I will work closely with the organization."

Tourney Vets Go After Pair Of New Leaders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A tightly bunched field of tournament veterans took out today after a pair of relatively obscure 68 shooters in the second round of the Western Open Golf Tournament.

Defending champion Cary Middlecoff of Dallas shot a 2-under-par 70 in his opening round to stay within easy reach of the front - running Californians who burned up the windy Presidio course in 4 under par yesterday.

The starting field of 162 was whacked for the second round, with 25 of the lesser lights sidelined, as Chula Vista professional Bill Casper and Alameda amateur Johnny McMullen set out to show whether their initial 68s were flashes in the pan, or whether this was their time to take the big name contingent.

Right up there, with a 69 for a starter, was pro Don January, Lampasas, Tex., former North Texas State College ace. He won the Dallas Centennial Tournament, a $6,000 show, last May and is the 18th ranking money winner among the pros.

Tied with Middlecoff at 70 were George Bayer, giant slugger from Grossingers, N.Y.; Jay Herbert, Sanford, Fla.; amateur Ed Castagnetto, San Francisco; big Mike Suchack, Durham, N.C.; Ron Nicol, Los Angeles; and Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif.

Except for Casper and the surprising McMullen, nobody tore the three-lined rolling Presidio course apart in the opening round, although 18 players turned in sub-par cards and 12 more succeeded in doing it in par.

Quintet for the Road
LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—Wyoming's basketball team will do much traveling this season. Coach Ev Shelton's 17th team will play games in Los Angeles, Omaha, Ames, Iowa, Albuquerque, N.M., Denver, Pocatello, Idaho, Missoula, Mont., Fort Collins, Colo., Salt Lake City, Logan, Provo, Utah and Detroit. In Detroit the Cowboys are in the Motor City tournament with Boston University, Detroit and Northwestern. Eleven home games are set for Laramie.

Both Sullivan, Calhoun Want Giardello Next

CLEVELAND (AP)—Both Rory Calhoun and John L. Sullivan, who fight in a middleweight 10-rounder at the arena here tonight, hope to get Joey Giardello as next opponent. And the experts hereabouts say Calhoun will be the one whose hope is still alive tomorrow.

But the experts were in placing their bets two weeks ago when Giardello whipped Bob Boyd and sent his stock as a middleweight contender way up.

Giardello, who hasn't been committed to meet tonight's winner, will be on hand to watch Sullivan, veteran from England, swap punches with the 22-year-old Calhoun, an Atlanta minister's son now fighting out of White Plains, N.Y.

NBC will broadcast and telecast at 9 p.m., EST.

Currently rated No. 6 contender, Calhoun had a string of 23 victories, including 12 knockouts, when Spider Webb won a split decision from him last August.

Sullivan has done more than three times as much professional fighting as Calhoun and has 35 knockouts among his 66 victories. He fought three draws and lost 20. Sullivan is expected to have a weight advantage of perhaps as much as six pounds.

Vikings Hope To Extend Victory String

MARSHALL, — Rolling along on a 5-game winning streak toward an undefeated season the Missouri Valley College Vikings will play host to the Lewis College Flyers of Lockport, Ill., Saturday night here at Gregg-Mitchell Field.

It will be Dad's Night with the fathers of the team members seated on the bench where they can offer plenty of moral support and encouragement for their sons. Players of high school teams within the Marshall area have also received invitations to attend this game as guests of the college.

Lewis College will come into this encounter still feeling the effects of four successive defeats; however, the Vikings will not be taking too much stock in that direction, since only last Saturday it was a three-beaten Southwest Missouri State College aggregation which almost derailed the Valley express. The Bears of Springfield fought gamely to the bitter end, succumbing to a 7-6 defeat.

Missouri Valley and Lewis College have met a mutual opponent in St. Ambrose College of Davenport, Iowa. The Bees, behind star passer Bob Webb, rolled to a 47-0 triumph over Lewis College where, as Valley toppled St. Ambrose, minus Webb, by a count of 27 to 19.

Last Sunday the Flyers looked much more aggressive and gave the Great Lakes Naval Training Center eleven a good battle, before eventually bowing out, 13 to 0. This recent showing may be a good indication the team is beginning to jell and could be plenty tough in the remaining games.

The two earlier Lewis College defeats were administered by Lorain College of Dubuque, Iowa, 20-6; and Western Illinois State College of Macomb, 34-12.

Last year in the first meeting between Valley and Lewis — the game played on neutral grounds at Joliet, Ill. — the Vikings came through with a hard earned 19-14 verdict.

In addition to the wins over Springfield and St. Andrews this season Coach Volney Ashford's gridders have also authored decisions over Panhandle Oklahoma A&M College, 23 to 13; Hastings, Nebraska College, 14-13, and James Millikin University of Decatur, Ill., 41-18.

Rochester Joins American Hockey League

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The 21st season of the American Hockey League will find Rochester with a professional hockey team for the first time in 20 years. Rochester replaces the Pittsburgh Hornets who dropped out of the league when their arena, Duquesne Gardens, was torn down.

Other teams in the league are in Providence, Buffalo, Cleveland, Hershey, Pa., and Springfield, Mass.

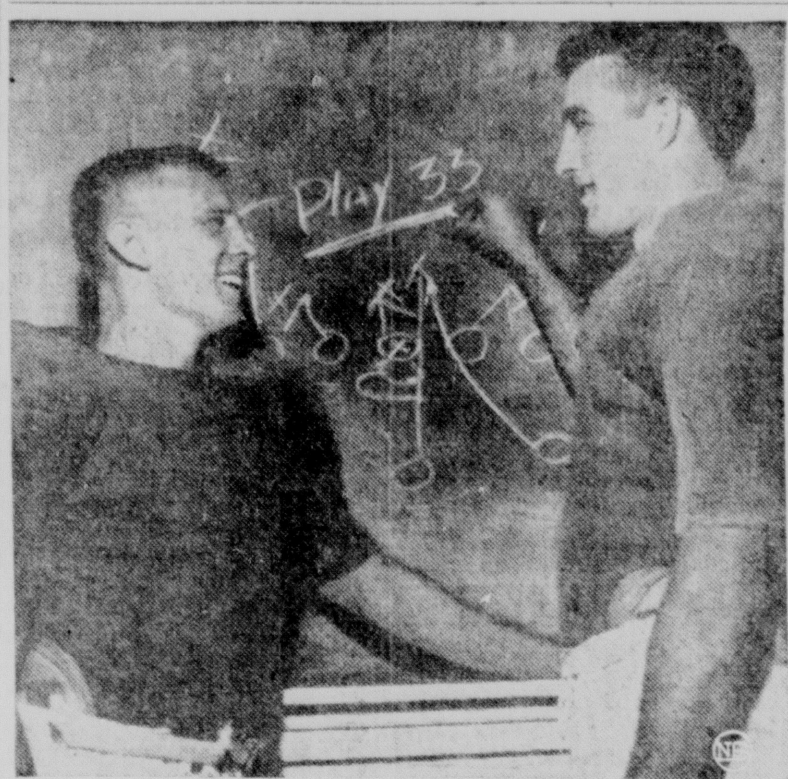

Eddie Arcaro, whose mounts have won more than one million dollars in each of the past 10 years, entered 1956 with 3,582 winners.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF MISSOURI

To be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri at the General Election to be held on Tuesday, the Sixth day of November, 1956

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 1

(Submitted by the 68th General Assembly)

To amend Article III, Missouri Constitution, by changing dates of legislative sessions, mileage and expense allowance of legislators and authorizing legislature to fix legislators' salaries.

JOINT RESOLUTION submitting to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri an amendment repealing Sections 16, 16a, 20 and 20a of Article III, constitution of Missouri, relating to the general assembly and enacting in lieu thereof three new sections relating to the same subject.

Be it resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring therein:

That at the general election to be held in this state on November 6, 1956, or at a special election to be called by the governor for that purpose there shall be submitted to the qualified voters of this state for adoption or rejection the following amendment to Article III of the constitution of Missouri:

Section 1. The General Assembly shall be known as Sections 16, 20 and 20a, and to read as follows:

Section 16. Senators and representatives shall receive the same salary, as salary, the sum of one thousand five hundred dollars per year unless otherwise provided by law. All such salaries shall be payable monthly. Legislative enactment affecting such salaries shall be effective from and after their passage and approval. Senators and representatives shall receive that amount per mile approved by the state comptroller for travel by other state officials for every mile traveled in going to and returning from their place of meeting on the most usual route for not more than one trip a week actually made to attend sessions. Each senator or representative shall be reimbursed from the state treasury for expenses incurred by him in attending sessions of the general assembly the sum of ten dollars per day for each day on which the first roll call, following the opening prayer, in the journal of the senate or house respectively, shall be made by such senator or representative. Upon certification by the president and secretary of the senate and by the speaker and chief clerk of the house of representatives as to the respective members thereof, the state comptroller shall approve and the state treasury shall pay monthly such mileage and expense allowance without legislative enactment.

Section 20. The general assembly shall meet in regular sessions on the first Wednesday after the first day of January of each year, but at the request of a majority of the members of the first roll call, following the opening prayer, in the journal of the senate or house respectively, shall adjourn to such other place as they may determine. The sessions of each house shall be held with open doors, except in cases which may require secrecy. Neither house, without the consent of the other, shall adjourn for more than ten days at any one time, nor to any other place than in which the two houses may be sitting.

Section 20a. The general assembly shall automatically stand adjourned at midnight on the last day of February after the date of its convening in regular session in even numbered years or on the sixtieth calendar day after the date of convening in special session unless it has adjourned sine die prior thereto.

The general assembly shall automatically stand adjourned sine die at midnight on the last day of February after the date of its convening in regular session in even numbered years or on the sixtieth calendar day after the date of convening in special session unless it has adjourned sine die prior thereto.

If any bill passed by the general assembly is vetoed or if any appropriation bill or any part thereof is vetoed or reduced by the governor subsequent to the adjournment of any regular session or within the last fifteen legislative days of the regular session and not acted upon by the general assembly under the provisions of Section 32 of Article III of this constitution, the general assembly shall meet on the first Wednesday of the third calendar month next following sine die adjournment for a period of not more than fifteen calendar days for the purpose of considering only such bills as have been vetoed and such appropriation bills as have been vetoed or reduced.

Over 300 Attend—

Yeager Union Church Holds Fifth Annual Homecoming

Yeager Union Church, located in the hills of Benton County, on a hill overlooking the Lake of the Ozarks, recently held its fifth homecoming at which more than 300 former residents of the Edmondson neighborhood were present. It was one of the largest gatherings the church has had since it resumed services there in 1951.

The church, founded about 1853, is located on the old road which led from Edmondson down to the Osage river where it had to be forded back in the old days. It was abandoned at the turn of the century, the cemetery being unkept, the church building about ready to collapse.

In 1950 some of the new residents of the area, especially among those who had moved to lakeside estates to retire, and others who had bought farm homes in the vicinity talked about having a church. They took over and in 1951 started a program of remodeling the old building, now more than 100 years old. It was straightened up, rock veneer walls built, and services began again.

The cemetery was cleaned up, stones which had fallen over were reset, and then the endeavor to find the names of old natives, relatives of natives, was started. As a result each homecoming has grown little by little since that Sunday in October, 1952, to the point where the church attendance at its most recent gathering had over 300 present.

These old timers, and many relatives, contributed to the church fund, and only recently a large addition to the original church was built to be used for the Sunday School and young people's building.

It was an impressive day, some of the descendants of these Benton County pioneers, who originally built the church, walked in to the cemetery, paused with heads bowed above various graves of their grandparents, and some of their parents. Others looked over the graves and headstones, many of which had been made by them in years gone by.

Morning services were held with the Rev. P. Heimsoth, pastor, officiating. At noon the basket dinner was served, at which time old acquaintances met for the first time in many years, and they made friends with the new congregation.

In the afternoon Rev. Heimsoth chose as his subject for the sermon, "Jacob's Ladder," and also, "Homecoming."

Many of those who attended the homecoming came from adjoining states as well as from all parts of Missouri.

Tom Bradley, president of the church group, was on hand early in the morning and was the last to leave the church grounds expressing his gratitude to the church members for carrying their part in making the meeting a success not for themselves but for the many visitors from far and near.

Sunday School Lesson Notes:

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

If you and I and a hundred others were asked on the spur of the moment to cite one of the Ten Commandments my guess is that most of us would answer instinctively, "Thou shalt not kill"; though possibly some of us might not be able to identify it as the sixth, which it is.

Of all the Ten Commandments I am inclined to think that from the time of Moses until now none has been more commonly or more persistently disregarded and broken.

Even if the commandment were taken as condemning private killings for private ends, murders—an act distinct from the slaughter of wars or killings in self-defense—the breach of the commandment has been upon a vast scale. Cain was but the first of a multitude of murderers.

From the first, men have chosen to set their own limits upon the sixth commandment. In its Mosaic origin it seems almost to have had tribal or racial limitations. For the very records that contain the commandments tell of the wiping out of conquered enemies, even to the slaughter of women and children, with specific reference to the "little ones." (See Numbers 31:7; 31:17; Deuteronomy 2:34.)

If one's blood turns cold at the thought of that ancient slaughter, it is with an even deeper sense of tragedy that in our own Twentieth Century we have seen Hitler's ruthlessness destroying hundreds of thousands in an effort to wipe out a race, a tragedy beyond all that the Jews suffered in all the tragedies and persecutions of former times.

"Civilization" has been a questionable word where killing is concerned.

The assumption that it is all right to kill when a constituted authority commands it is a further limitation upon the commandment. It obscures the fact that the authority itself may be on a very immoral or unsound basis.

Millions of men have been sent to death in wars at the will of one autocrat or dictator.

But where the individual might take the command against killing literally and personally, and as a pacifist refuse to fight even when a sound and legitimate government commands, the matter is complicated by the fact that the pacifist virtually may be compromising with the basest aggression and cruelty and with the possible destruction of the very government that makes his pacifism possible.

That is why many men of the most pacific spirit have none the less felt themselves bound to kill in war.

There is a point at which pacifism breaks down. An old sailor, who had sailed far and wide, used to tell me a story, true or not I don't know, of a Quaker, who was a passenger on a ship attacked by pirates.

When crew and passengers were arming to resist the attack the Quaker refused to fight. But when a pirate reached upon the rail to board the ship, the Quaker grabbed an axe and cut off his hand. "Friend," he said, "keep thy hand to thyself." A man of peace has a right to expect others to be the same.

A new phase of the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill" has entered into modern life with the emergence of the automobile, which has accounted for more deaths and casualties in accidents than the entire list of deaths and casualties of Americans in the fighting in Korea.

Of course the auto is not the killer; it is the one who drives it. But apart from the element of personal good judgment, courtesy, and restraint which would impress the commandment upon the individual, it is amazing how little effective action is being taken by the official public to stop the killing.

Nation's Weather Shows Little Change; Cool in Some Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather showed little change today, fairly pleasant in most of the mid-continent, chilly along the Eastern Seaboard and a little cooler and wet in most Western areas.

The cool weather in the East Coast extended from Maine as far south as Florida with the greatest drops in temperatures in the South Atlantic Coast states. A warming trend was forecast.

Considerable warming was reported in the Great Lakes region, with biggest temperature rises in the northern areas. Readings were more than 25 degrees higher in sections of Michigan than yesterday morning, and were generally in the 40s. The warming also extended over parts of the upper Mississippi Valley and in sections of the Northern Plains.

Showery and cloudy weather continued along the northern and central Pacific Coast, in the northern Rockies and Central Plateau region. Rainfall in most areas was light. Generally cooler weather was reported in the rainy sections.

Use Your Electric Mixer
If you are fortunate enough to have an electric mixer, keep it in a handy place so you can use it often. For it is a versatile piece of equipment. Many homemakers store it right where it can be used simply by lifting off the plastic cover that protects it when not in use.

You can use your mixer on all types of batters and doughs. Use it to mash potatoes and other vegetables — this assures you they won't be lumpy.

Also, with your mixer you can make fluffy white frostings and good smooth mayonnaise. Use your mixer for all kinds of fruit and milk drinks. But remember, the motor on your mixer is more powerful than arm muscle, and faster. This means it is easy to overmix. To use your mixer just the right length of time, assemble and measure all ingredients before you start mixing. Then give your full attention to the mixing job and follow directions carefully as to speeds and time.

Use Proper Needles, Thread When Sewing

Good tools are of prime importance to the home sewer. For best results, needles and threads should always conform to each other and to the material on which they are used.

Needles — for both hand sewing and your machine — and sewing threads are made in many sizes. The sizes range from very fine to very coarse. Each has a special system of numbering which indicates the degree of fineness and coarseness. However, sewing machine needles do not have a uniform system of numbering. For best results, become familiar with the numbering which is used for your machine. Otherwise ask for a general size, that is — fine, medium or coarse.

Better Breakfasts Make Better Students

The boy or girl who goes to school after eating a good breakfast not only is off to a better physical start but also he will do a better job of his lessons than if he skips breakfast or just grabs a doughnut as he hurries away.

An internationally known authority on nutrition points out that there are two facts homemakers cannot ignore in planning meals. One — we need to eat an adequate breakfast; and two, we need protein from some source such as meat, milk or egg in each meal.

The first meal of the day offers a chance for the homemaker to do both these things which means so much to the well being and health of her family, for a good breakfast contains protein.

Because they are building bodies, growing boys and girls need proportionately more food than adults and it is especially important for them to eat a good breakfast. If they skip breakfast they lose one of their three daily chances to get adequate food for proper nourishment.

A good breakfast includes about one-third of your daily food needs. Here is the basic breakfast pattern: citrus fruit or their juices or tomato juice; meat or eggs; whole grain or enriched bread, butter or margarine and milk.

"I'll never forget the telephone call that rushed a doctor to my mother's bedside."

An Interview With
Mrs. Ora Surls
by Telephone News Reporter
Don Davis

"I remember the first time I ever used a telephone. It was back in 1895. I was about six years old. My mother was ill and wanted the doctor. We didn't have a phone so I ran to the nearest neighbor who did. I was so scared but when the doctor on the other end of the line answered 'I'll be right over,' it all seemed like a fairy tale to a six-year-old girl."

That's the way Mrs. Ora Surls tells about her most memorable telephone call. It was the first time she experienced the magic of the telephone but certainly not the last.

Meeting Mrs. Surls 60 years later is like bumping into an old friend. She's a warm, friendly person with a keen sense of humor and heaps of patience—qualities she's used to take 67 years of living pretty much in stride.

Coming from a pioneer farming family, Mrs. Surls has had her share of ups and Does any single telephone call stand out in your memory? Mrs. Ora Surls remembers one from 60 years ago as clearly as if it had happened last night.

downs. But that's the past. She'd rather count her blessings. She says the telephone is very definitely one of them, calls it her "best friend." She means it.

LARGE FAMILY

Keeping up with her family, which Mrs. Surls treasures above everything, is a big enough assignment in itself. Eleven of her 13 children are living and situated in different parts of the country. With a family of that size, Mrs. Surls has had many memorable telephone calls through the years. Many have brought good news. Many is the time Mrs. Surls has answered the phone and received glad tidings of a new arrival in the family—there are 30 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Other calls Mrs. Surls remembers with sadness. One of these came in 1943, during the war. Three of her boys were in service and one of them, who was headed overseas at the time, called his "Mom" before leaving. "Mother, we fly out at 2 a. m.—overseas duty. Don't worry, I'll be safe. I'll write you soon. Remember, I love you."

That was the last time Mrs. Surls heard his voice. He was killed on a mission a few months later.

You'd never remember calls like these, wouldn't you?

You can't help but see a little bit of everybody in Mrs. Surls' story. That's because the telephone plays such an intimate part in all our daily lives. Probably you've had a telephone call, or calls, you'll never forget. If so, and you'd care to write me about it, I'd like to hear from you. Just address your letter to me, Don Davis, here at the telephone company.

Drought Relief Boosted

Ike in Federal Aid for Drouth, Ike Announces

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP) — President Eisenhower today announced a stepped up program to help drought-stricken farmers and ranchers. He said he plans a personal visit to the parched area to see that the extra federal aid is bringing "good results."

The President's action followed Democratic charges that the Republican administration is indifferent to drought problems.

Plans To Call Conference

In addition to announcing new emergency steps, Eisenhower told his news conference he intends to call a conference after the election to try to "do something more about it than has been done." He said the conference will be attended by "responsible people" from the area.

The President said the drought has been "very serious for several years," and added: "It's a kind of a thing that the longer it lasts the more severe it gets."

The southwestern states of Texas, Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico have been suffering from shortages of rainfall since 1947, and some experts have said this is the worst year yet.

Ranchers have been selling their livestock, sometimes even their breeding herds, because there is no feed for them.

Four-Step Aid Program

The emergency program outlined by Eisenhower in a statement issued after his news conference covers these four steps:

1. An increase from $1 to $1.50 a hundred pounds in the federal subsidy on government-owned feed grains to help maintain basic livestock herds. This means the government is cutting $1.50 a hundred pounds off the actual cost of such grains, Eisenhower said.

This will cut feed costs and move more grain from government stocks to drought-stricken farmers and ranchers," He said Secretary of Agriculture Benson would announce details.

2. Allocation of an additional five million dollars from civil defense disaster relief funds for buying hay and other roughage to maintain foundation livestock during the rest of this fiscal year ending June 30. Eisenhower said 10½ million dollars available for that purpose already has been used up, half of it going to Texas.

Eisenhower said he will "allocate such additional sums as may be needed to continue this program until the Congress convenes and supplemental funds can be appropriated."

3. The export-import bank yesterday authorized a five-million-dollar loan to Mexico for the purchase of American beef and dairy cattle. Eisenhower said at least 3½ million of that amount is expected to buy some 40,000 beef cattle from livestock owners in the feed-short Southwest.

4. The administration has asked railroads to "consider ways and means of assisting farm and ranch people in drought areas during this difficult period" through reduced freight rates.

Townships to Elect Extension Directors

Extension Council directors for Bowling Green, Prairie and Lake Creek townships will be held this Friday evening Oct. 12. All meetings will start at 8 o'clock.

Bowling Green is at the Beaman Community Hall with Mrs. W. L. Marlin presiding. John Sneed Sr. will serve as secretary and a man director is to be elected. Prairie will meet at Camp Branch school and Mrs. Orin Chapman will be in charge. Paul Neitzert is secretary and a man director is to be elected.

The Lake Creek election is at Bahner school and Bob Hoehns will be in charge. Mrs. Rudy Rehmer will be secretary and a woman director will be elected.

Bill Brown Is Democrat Rally Speaker

Praises Blair, Adlai at Bahner Wednesday Night

Pettis County Democrats held their Fourth County Rally at St. John's School in Bahner, Missouri, Wednesday evening, October 10th. Following the introduction of the candidates, William F. Brown of Sedalia, the principal speaker discussed leading issues of the present political campaign.

"The State of Missouri, this year, has the opportunity of placing in office one of the best qualified executives as Governor of this state we have ever had. Lt. Gov. Blair has behind him a vast knowledge of the workings of the affairs of this state, and in his traveling in the past eight years throughout the State of Missouri and prior to that, he has observed the particular problems of the various sections of our state. A vote for Jim Blair and the Democrat state ticket will be a vote for continued progress for the State of Missouri."

Turning his talk towards the national issues, Mr. Brown stated "I am proud that I was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago, where our party had, in a free and democratic manner, made its choice of the two strongest candidates for President and Vice President. I was amazed in the great following that Senator Estes Kefauver had and especially in the northern states of our country."

"Adlai Stevenson who possesses a command of the English language, second only perhaps to Winston Churchill, offers to America the opportunity of choosing as our Chief Executive a man who has more knowledge, first hand, of the international problems as well as the internal problems of our nation, than any other person in this country."

Jerusalem Convicts US Woman as Spy

Allegedly Served As Spy for Syria; Gets Two Sentences

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, Oct. 11 (AP)—Miss Mary Frances Hagan, 29, a U. S. citizen, was convicted as a spy today in Jerusalem District Court.

The court's president ruled she was guilty of two charges of espionage under the Israeli Official Secrets Act.

Two sentences were imposed, one of three months and the other one year in prison. They are to be served concurrently.

Arrested in Israel Aug. 27

Miss Hagan was tried secretly on charges that she was a spy for Syria, with which Israel officially is at war. She was arrested Aug. 27 at a Tel Aviv hotel after she made a nine-day bus tour of Israel.

Miss Hagan, whom friends from Pembroke College at Providence, R. I., describe as a fervent idealist, excited suspicion of Israeli officials by the questions she asked as she traveled through the country.

US May Make Appeal

In Washington officials said that the completion of court action on the case opens the way for possible action by the Israeli government. Officials indicated that the United States would now make an appeal to the Israeli government for executive clemency.

Spotted Alfalfa Aphids Have Increased, Threaten Stand

By MERLE VAUGHAN

During the past couple of weeks there has been a tremendous increase in spotted alfalfa aphid numbers. They have not increased to the point where they are numerous enough to make spraying necessary if the alfalfa stand is to be protected. This aphid is often no larger than the head of a pin and a brownish-yellow in color.

Of course, drought conditions are greatly complicating the situation. Drought alone is seriously hurting the alfalfa, but the aphid damage in addition to that caused by drought is beginning to kill some stands.

We have no research data to prove it, but it looks as though those fields which are grazed are being damaged less than ungrazed stands.

On old, established stands of alfalfa, spraying will be justified when you can see little specks of honeydew on the plant. Particularly, when drought is also working against the plant, spraying for even small numbers of aphids will be justified. We believe that some stands now being killed would have a good chance to survive — for awhile at least — if the aphid damage is stopped.

On seedling alfalfa, spray if you can find any aphids at all. It takes only one or two aphids per seedling plant to kill out the stand.

Control recommendations are the same as those suggested last spring. If you do the spraying yourself, we suggest malathion at the rate of about 12 ounces (1 pint of 57 per cent malathion emulsifiable concentrate) per acre. If custom operators do the spraying, parathion at 4 ounces will also give good control, but we strongly recommend that no farmer try to spray with parathion because of the extreme toxicity hazards.

Incidentally, keep in mind that sprayed alfalfa should not be cut or grazed less than seven days after spraying with malathion, and 14 days after spraying with the other insecticides mentioned.

One of the big difficulties in controlling this insect is reinfestation. Even when a good kill has been gotten on the aphids in a field, it is possible to be completely rewater. (Please turn to page 4, column 5)

Internal Affairs As Issue

Ike Says Dems Not Concerned Over US Dollar

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP) — President Eisenhower said today it takes a sound dollar to keep America strong, and he laid down as "a real issue" of the campaign:

"How do we manage America's internal affairs?"

He strongly implied, at his news conference, that the people can get better management from the Republicans than they can from the Democrats.

Talk of 'Deficit Spending'

For one thing, he said, "the leaders that are now speaking" for the Democrats "are not particularly concerned with the sound dollar because they talk about raising expenditures, cutting taxes, and that means, as I see it, deficit spending."

"And you cannot continue to spend on a deficit basis without hurting your dollar," he added.

In stressing management of domestic affairs, as a campaign issue, Eisenhower said:

"In the foreign affairs, no one has debated, so far as I know, on general broad policy."

Hopes for Suez Solution

There was little on foreign affairs at the news conference. Eisenhower did express the hope that any misunderstanding with Great Britain and France on the Suez Canal situation soon would be cleared up.

The President seemed to get his back up when he was led into a discussion of what Adlai Stevenson, his Democratic opponent for re-election, has said about possibilities of calling a halt to hydrogen bomb tests.

'No Understanding of Atoms'

Stevenson said, among other things, that Eisenhower seemed to "have little understanding or sympathy with attempts to save man from the greatest horror his ingenuity has ever devised."

Stevenson also said scientists understood his proposal better than Republican politicians.

Eisenhower has previously rebuffed Stevenson's ideas on the H-bomb. The President said today he has never offered an opinion on scientific phases of nuclear weapons without getting scientific advice.

Auxiliary Enterprises Second Largest Source Of Income at Mizzou

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 11 (AP)—Auxiliary enterprises operated by the University of Missouri provided it with the second largest source of income last year, a 119-page report on university finances disclosed today.

The biggest chunk of operating income, $6,710,739 came from state appropriations, but it was still less than half of the total $15,218,745.

The enterprises, such as dormitories and student apartments, faculty housing, cafeterias, intercollegiate athletics, the Student Union and the campus bookstore, yielded $3,001,392 despite a $37,540 loss in educational telecasting.

Other university income included $2,224,559 in federal appropriations; $1,604,731 student fees; $500,292, gifts and grants; $87,731 scholarships, fellowships and prizes and $59,826 from endowment earnings.

Salaries again proved the biggest operation expense, totaling $9,897,921.

Bartender Neglects Job to Tell Fish Tale

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11 (AP)—This fish story wasn't wet enough for one tavern patron.

Bartender Herb Kempe was spinning a fishing yarn. It was a long yarn, probably longer and more winding than many a blue trout stream.

Most of the drinkers didn't seem to mind listening, even though their calls for refills were going unheeded.

When the story-teller was at narrative mid-stream, one parched patron slyly waded away.

A few rolling sentences later the telephone rang and Kempe heard this tart and desperate request:

"This is a customer, and I'm in a phone booth at the other end of the bar. I want a bourbon and water."

Faces Prosecution Threat—Ex-Teacher Refuses to Send Daughter to Public Schools

CEDARTOWN, Mo., Oct. 11 (AP)—An attractive former teacher, faced by the threat of prosecution, stood firm today in her refusal to let her 7-year-old daughter attend public schools which she says turns children into "trained seals."

"I am going to stand by my guns," Mrs. Mary Schoenheit said in response to an ultimatum from the acting superintendent of the Moniteau County public schools to have the girl in classes by tomorrow or he would bring legal action.

Does Own Tutoring

The dark-haired mother, in her 40s, maintained she is complying with the state law by tutoring her daughter, Mary, at home in a study course which she says is equal to what she would get in public schools.

Acting County School Supt. Raymond McDaniels does not agree. Although she once taught in Illinois, McDaniels said she does not have a Missouri teacher's certificate and "does not qualify as an instructor capable of giving the child equal education at home."

"Mary does very well under my program," Mrs. Schoenheit said, "and she is not going to public school. Our public schools are antiquated institutions consuming our children's lives and our money, and giving us in return trained seals who balance balls on their noses and bark at the right signal."

Assails School Policies

She assailed public schools for "their inhuman passion for conformity." And she said, she was opposed to the "concept that all children, regardless of race, color, creed, social background and individual capabilities should be forced to submit to one standard of education."

But McDaniels insisted that unless Mary is enrolled in school by tomorrow he will file charges against Mrs. Schoenheit in Magistrate Court.

Her husband is Brown Schoenheit, a musician, now employed at a missile plant of the Convair Aviation Corp. of Pomona, Calif. She said she came here to get away from what she called the hubbub of southern California and that state's "dictatorial" compulsory school attendance law. She insisted the Missouri law is more flexible.

Even as the legal storm gathered about her, Mrs. Schoenheit went quietly about painting the "old abandoned house on a 20-acre patch of brush" which she took over near this town of 248, just 14 miles from the state capital at Jefferson City.

Youth Found Penned in Henhouse—Irish Woman Pleads Innocent To Treating Son as Chicken

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Oct. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Halpenny pleaded innocent in Magistrate's Court today to charges of ill-treating her 7-year-old "chicken boy" son, Kevin.

The 45-year-old widow said in a prepared statement to the court that she loved the son authorities had found penned in her henhouse and wanted him back home with her. Her trial was set for Oct. 30 and she was released on bail.

Kevin was found Sept. 13 in the Halpenny chicken house at Down Patrick, County Down, 15 miles from Belfast. Children playing hide-and-seek first saw the boy perched on a roost with the chickens.

A police sergeant called to the scene said the boy grunted like an animal and could neither walk nor eat human food. His matted hair appeared never to have been cut. He had clawlike fingernails. He got about by hopping like an ape, welfare officials said.

Witnesses told the hearing at Crossgar Magistrate's Court that the boy weighed only 28 pounds and that he was able to stand for only half a minute and then only when aided. He moved on all fours at the welfare home that sheltered him, they said.

A physician testified the boy's arms and right leg were riddled with fractures because of the weakness of his bones. He said Kevin was retarded, but not mentally deficient, chiefly because he was denied sunlight and proper food.

An 11-year-old youngster, Desmond Breenan, testified he had looked into the henhouse 6 months ago and saw "a wee boy or girl peeping through sacks over the windows. I could only see down to its waist and it had no clothes on, that I could see," the child testified.

A companion, 13-year-old Joseph Garsen, said that when he and Desmond went back to look at the henhouse later, he knocked on the window. "Two eyes looked out; I thought it was a dog," Joseph said.

Police read out Mrs. Halpenny's statement. In it she said Kevin "seemed to stop growing" when he was two. She said she left Kevin in the henhouse, near the home where she lives with two grown daughters, only when she went shopping.

Timber Cutter Shot Down From Ambush

POCAHONTAS, Ark., Oct. 11 (AP) — A timber cutter was shot down from ambush about 15 miles north of here today and police arrested a 19-year-old man for questioning.

Deputy Sheriff Weldon Evans said the victim, Irving Palmer, 30, was working with two other men near the Marynard community, when Palmer remarked that "somebody is shooting at us."

The other two men, identified only as "McCain" and Bud Brooks by the deputy said they paid no attention to Palmer's remark, but Palmer fell with a bullet in his stomach a few seconds later. He died en route to a hospital.

Deputy Evans said that 19-year-old Billy Culver was located in the area a short time later and taken to the sheriff's office for questioning.

Plane Missing Over Atlantic

Launch Search for Military Craft Lost With 59 Aboard

LAKENHEATH, England, Oct. 11 (AP)—An armada of aircraft, including giant jet bombers, criss-crossed Atlantic waters tonight in a great search for a U. S. military transport plane missing with 59 men aboard.

The hours yielded only fading hope that the Air Force personnel and Navy crew of the huge C118 Liftmaster were alive. The missing plane is the military version of the civilian DC6.

Even while the night searchers peered hopefully over the smooth waters for flares from possible survivors, the mystery deepened as to just what happened to the missing plane.

Vanishes on Homeward Flight

The homeward bound Liftmaster vanished sometime, somewhere, between Lands End and the Azores. Its last message came from a point about 180 miles southwest of the westernmost tip of England. It had fuel enough to last until 5:30 a. m. today. The Liftmaster was due at Lajes in the Azores early today.

By early morning the aircraft was officially described as "presumed down" and the search was launched in fine, clear weather.

Included 48 Enlisted Men

Aboard the Liftmaster were 2 Air Force officers and 48 enlisted men returning to the Lincoln, Neb., Air Force Base in the United States after a tour of duty in Britain. The Navy crew consisted of three officers and six enlisted men.

Called into the search operations were American, British and Portuguese aircraft from the Azores, Scotland, England, France, Germany, Iceland and North Africa. They scoured an area where vision was perfect in the daytime hours. Yet they could not detect the slightest trace of the plane, or of wreckage, or of an oil patch.

No Progress In Suez Meet, Pineau Says

Egypt's Minister Fawzi Still Holds Hope for Solution

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 11 (AP) — French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau announced tonight there has been no progress in the secret Suez talks with Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi. Pineau said he is leaving for Paris Saturday.

Fawzi, however, held out some hope for a Suez solution.

Sees No Advance by Talks

Pineau, one of the leading figures in the U. N. Suez discussions, made his announcement as he left the fourth private session with Fawzi, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

Asked if progress had been made, in these high-level talks, he replied: "Not yet."

Asked if there had been found a basis for negotiations, he said: "Not yet. Just an important lot of words."

Confident of Accord

Fawzi, coming down from the conversations in Hammarskjöld's 38th-floor office, was asked if he thought something could be accomplished.

"I think so," the Egyptian said. He reiterated his intention to stay here as long as necessary.

Lloyd merely told newsmen there would be another meeting of the conferees tomorrow at 9:30 a.m.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11 (AP)—A Circuit Court jury today returned a verdict of acquittal by reason of insanity in the case of Anthony J. Bellinger, charged with murdering his son, Donald, 12.

Circuit Judge Robert Aronson ordered the 50-year-old brewery worker confined at the state hospital for the criminally insane at Fulton until a competent court finds him sane.

Bellinger's wife who was wounded several times, said Bellinger came up from the basement of their home and, without saying a word, began shooting at her and the boy last Jan. 28.

A psychiatrist testified Bellinger has improved noticeably at Malcolm Bliss hospital, where he has been under treatment, and has a fair chance of recovery.

Bellinger, who had never been convicted, has a police record dating back to 1925 and including arrests suspicion of robbery and flourishing a deadly weapon.

Federated Garden Clubs Hold District Meeting at Wesley Church Wednesday

The Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri, West Central District, held a one-day convention Wednesday, Oct. 3, at the Wesley Methodist Church, with Mrs. Herbert Seifert, Sedalia district director, presiding. There were 265 Garden Club members attending the meeting from Audrain, Amsterdam, Butler, Clinton, Parkville, Foster, Green Ridge, Holden, Hume, Kansas City, Knob Noster, LaMonte, Malta Bend, Osceola, Ottumville, Marshall, Appleton City, Sedalia, Smithton, Warsaw, Stover, Strausburg, Clinton, Warrensburg, Waverly, Wellington and Windsor.

The principal address of the day was made by the president of the Missouri Federation of Garden Clubs, Mrs. Henry I. Eager, Jefferson City.

No place in the world, said Mrs. Eager, has organized garden clubs like America. Garden clubs are as typically American, she said, as apple pie. There are 361 clubs in Missouri with a total of 9,234 members.

Missouri, Mrs. Eager said, has been selected as the national home for the Garden Clubs and it has been announced that legally now the six and two-tenths acres of Shaw's Garden in St. Louis may be given for the home of the National Federation of Garden Clubs.

Any organization concerned with service is going to grow, said Mrs. Eager, and as the Garden Clubs continue to serve they will continue to build.

Mrs. Eager told of the many things the Garden Clubs over the state are doing. Missouri has 11 roadside parks and there will soon be three more; it is doing a wonderful work in therapy; it is very active in the Litterbug Campaign.

In fact, coined the name the nation now uses; it gives scholarships, works on conservation, beautifies cities and roads, has a planned bird program, and does many other things. Garden Clubs, Mrs. Eager said, have a story to tell.

The Council of Sedalia Garden Clubs of which Mrs. Roy Gerster is president, was hostess to the district meeting, which opened at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Paul Read, second vice-president of the Sedalia Council, gave the national collect and invocation was given by the Rev. Lee F. Soxman.

The welcome was given by Mrs. Roy Gerster and the response by Mrs. Richard Steitz, president of the Raytown Garden Club.

Mrs. H. C. Johnson led the singing of the national federation song, "Where a Garden Grows," with Mrs. Paul Berthouex as accompanist.

Roll call was by Mrs. Clarence Nieweg of Napoleon, member of the Wellington Garden Club.

Reports were given by the treasurer, Mrs. Guy McAmis, and auditor, Mrs. W. L. Conrod, as well as the various officers and committees. Reports were also given by presidents of the clubs over the state. Each president told what the projects of the club were and their accomplishments of the past year. One club had made a list of all the shut-ins and old people they felt needed to be remembered in their town, visit them, take them things and see especially they are remembered on their birthdays.

Luncheon was served by the women of the church with Mrs. Wilford Acker, assistant director, presiding. Invocation was by Mrs. Lee Soxman.

Mrs. A. H. Bratten, music and program chairman, then presented Russell Maag, who sang "On the Road to Mandalay" and "One Alone," accompanied by Mrs. Del Heckart.

Mrs. Seifert presided over the afternoon session, which opened with a memorial by Mrs. Leland Hoback, with soloist Mrs. A. H. Bratten and Mrs. Paul Berthouex as accompanist. Mrs. Bratten sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. C. L. Carter talked on the awards and told how the yearbooks were classified, exchanged with another district for judging, and explained exactly what should be included and how a yearbook should be constructed. She also told of judging scrapbooks and what should be included in scrapbooks.

Miss Mayer suggested in the free discussion period that for modern times a new streamlined synthesis be attempted, correlating all Catholic doctrines and morals and practices such as the great philosopher and theologian St. Thomas Aquinas worked out in the 13th century. She told the assembly that ever since 1929 when her Master's thesis at Marquette University was published in book form by Bruce Publishing Co. as "The Philosophy of Teaching of St. Thomas Aquinas" she had been working on such a synthesis around the core of the Ten Commandments, the Apostles' Creed and the 15 meditations on the life of Christ in the Rosary, and she begged the prayers of those present for guidance of the Holy Spirit to success in her efforts.

One club had made a list of all the shut-ins and old people they felt needed to be remembered in their town, visit them, take them things and see especially they are remembered on their birthdays.

Luncheon was served by the women of the church with Mrs. Wilford Acker, assistant director, presiding. Invocation was by Mrs. Lee Soxman.

HOUSE BATTLE—Four hundred and thirty-two Congressional districts will elect representatives to Congress on Nov. 6. Of these, 92 are in so-called marginal districts (see Newsmap) that were won in 1954 by 55 per cent of the vote or less. It is in these districts, most of them outside the South, where the battle for House control will be fought. The Republicans have 61 doubtful seats to defend this year, almost twice as many as the Democrats, who have 31. The party that wins control of the House has won every presidential election except one (in 1916) since 1896. In 1952 with Eisenhower heading the ticket the GOP captured control of the House by seven seats, 222-215. Maine elected two Republicans and one Democrat this September.

To Use Helicopter, Harvester to Pick Pecans From Trees

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—A helicopter and a harvester will be used in a tree-shaking, pecan-picking experiment.

The helicopter will blow the nuts from the trees, then the harvester will move along the ground and suck up the pecans.

That's the idea. Whether it will work will be determined Wednesday.

Lewis Scott, a Savannah crop duster, will pilot the whirlybird. Arthur O. Sandison of Albany, manager of a pecan processing company, will supervise ground operations at an orchard south of Albany.

If the two machines do what they're supposed to do, the experiment may bring about a considerable reduction in pecan harvesting time.

Whiteman Has Envious Fire Safety Record

In observing Fire Prevention Week Oct. 7-13) the Whiteman Week Oct. 7-13 the Whiteman can look with pride to an enviable record maintained throughout the past year.

During the past fiscal year there were no losses due to fire on this entire installation; the only such record of the year in Eighth Air Force. This accomplishment by base fire prevention men is truly outstanding when one looks at the awesome fire loss throughout the Air Force.

In the Air Force during 1955 there was a reported average of 112 fires per month. The following year this total was increased to 170 per month.

The dollar loss in the continental United States Air Force bases during the first half of 1956 was 31 per cent higher than the loss in the same area for the entire preceding year.

Certainly good fortune may be given some credit for the perfect fire prevention program on this installation but even more must be attributed to the never-ending vigilance of our base fire prevention officials and the fire safety attitude of Whiteman personnel.

Fire prevention teams are maintained by Whiteman, led by Mike Firsiack, fire prevention supervisor, whose job it is to make periodic checks of every area on the base theater and nursery to insure the elimination of fire hazards.

Monthly inspections are made of dormitories, administrative buildings, and other plant facilities to check the condition of fire fighting equipment and to determine whether there are any threats to the buildings' safety.

In addition, a weekly inspection is made by these prevention teams of "hot spots"; such as hangars and other more vulnerable areas on the base. Regularly appointed fire guards are also stationed at the base theater and nursery when these facilities are in operation.

All of these preventative measures are consistent with the belief that the fireman's primary job is not fighting conflagrations, but preventing them.

A comparison can readily be made between the work done by the base firemen and the very command for which they work. Like the Strategic Air Command's air crews and other personnel, the firemen at Whiteman train constantly to achieve perfection in their assignment and maintain a tremendously expensive variety of equipment to use in case a fire should occur.

Equipment maintained by Whiteman for fire prevention included three 0-11A type crash trucks; two 0-10's; three 750 gallon pumpers; one 0-6 crash truck and one R-2 rescue truck. The cost of these vehicles exceeds $220,000.

In addition to this equipment, five civilians and 78 airmen are trained, partially trained or are undergoing extensive training to operate this apparatus. The cost of training one man to a skilled level is approximately $7,500. Five men are required to attain efficient operation on all the above mentioned equipment.

A constructive training program is carried on during duty hours for all fire department personnel. During these training sessions the firemen obtain a working knowledge of local areas, roads, buildings, construction, water systems, equipment involved, amount of water in surrounding localities such as ditches, ponds, streams, etc.

Zanuck Change Is Surprise

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The film world was surprised when Darryl F. Zanuck stepped down as head of 20th Century-Fox studios to become an independent producer. Today he tells why he did it:

"Throughout my career, first as a writer, then an editor, then a producer and finally as studio head, I considered myself essentially a writer. It was the creative end that really interested me.

"Until a few years ago, I was able to devote myself to the creative end entirely. I didn't have to talk to actors; I had people to handle the business matters.

"But this business has changed. Three or four years ago, I found myself devoting 60 per cent of my time talking to this agent or that agent or Gregory Peck or some other star. I found I had less and less time to work on stories.

"So I told Mr. Skouras (company head Spyros Skouras) that as soon as I could find someone to take over for me, I'd like to step out and devote myself to the active job of creating. I think I can serve the company and the industry better that way."

He found his successor in able, aggressive Buddy Adler, who now heads studio production. Zanuck still occupies the same office and plans to produce 20 films in the next five to seven years. Some will be produced by others under his guidance. At least one a year will be what he calls a "blockbuster." His first will be "Island in the Sun," based on the best-selling novel by Alec Waugh.

Always an enthusiast, Zanuck seems bristling with energy for his new career. He delighted in showing me some pages someone had sent him from the memoirs of the late George Arliss. The actor depicted the young Zanuck as "a born leader, not a blind follower." The passages told how Zanuck, then in his 20s, energetically told his ideas for the film "Disraeli," which won Arliss an Oscar.

"It was interesting to learn what Arliss thought of me," Zanuck said. "That's the kind of spirit of creating I want to get back to."

Despite a few years of hard times in Hollywood, Zanuck has lost none of his hopes for the film industry.

"I think the outlook for theatrical films is very good," he said. But "perhaps our greatest potential will be realized from our No. 1 competitor, television."

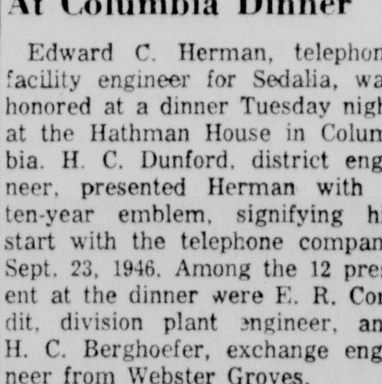

"Did you know that in New York last week 250 feature films were playing on television? That there are already 2,500 films released to television? That shows you the tremendous need for entertainment in that medium."

"Eventually I feel that the movie industry and television will have to meet. How that will be brought about, I don't know. But it will bring the greatest prosperity Hollywood has ever known."

Doubt Sooner Victory Skein Is Record Yet

Hear Report Pitt's 1914-1919 Teams Won 33 Straight

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Oklahoma football players heard today that their 32 straight victories may not be a record after all, but there wasn't one that wasn't confident they could top the 33 now said to be the mark.

NCAA Athletic Service Bureau statisticians today reported the modern record probably is 33 straight set by Pittsburgh teams of 1914-1919.

The modern record was believed to have been 31 set by Oklahoma back in 1948-49 and topped by this year's top ranking Sooners who won their 32nd straight from Kansas State 66-0 Saturday.

The string Oklahoma is now working on started back in 1953 when the Sooners knocked over Texas 19-14.

Oklahoma plays Texas again Saturday and the Sooners are a 21-point favorite. Despite the gloom of Sooner Coach Bud Wilkinson the players today vowed they'd whip Texas if that was what was needed to tie the Pittsburgh mark.

This year's players don't know how to lose.

Jerry Tubbs, Oklahoma center who is an All-America candidate, is typical of the seniors on the squad.

"It's funny to say, but we don't know what it means to lose," Tubbs commented. "Every college game we've played in we've won. But we're not cocky. We know everyone is laying for us and that if the ball bounces wrong we can lose."

"Texas will be tough but I think we can take them."

It was in last year's Texas game that Oklahoma won 20-0, in which Tubbs got one of his biggest football thrills.

The fast-moving, hard-hitting center intercepted three Texas passes.

Tommy McDonald, Oklahoma's all-America left halfback, also is looking forward to the Texas game for another reason.

He hopes to start another string of touchdowns.

The fast-moving McDonald failed to make a 6-point last week, although the Sooners scored 66-0 against Kansas State. This broke his record of scoring in 12 straight games.

McDonald first caught the nation's football eye last year as he made two flashy touchdowns on the coast-to-coast telecast of the contest.

infested in as little as two to three weeks. If you get poor results from spraying, be sure to check first on the possibility of reinfestation.

Keep in mind too, as we get into the fall, that spraying must be done when temperatures are above 65 degrees, and wind velocities are below 10 to 12 miles per hour. This applies to both ground and aerial applications.

If ground rigs are used, we suggest using sprayers with spray booms — not jet-type nozzles. Although the jet nozzles are excellent for spraying many things, we do not like the results they give against aphids. Even slight air movement will break up the spray pattern which results in skips in control. For best results with ground rigs, we suggest boom sprayers, operated at least 60 to 80 pounds pressure, and at least 10 to 12 gallons per acre.

We cannot overemphasize that this situation is very serious. The aphids have been building up for some time, and have now reached proportions which cannot be ignored. We firmly believe that, even if we begin to get some rain, a great many acres of alfalfa will be killed if the aphid injury is not stopped.

We think it should also be pointed out that in the infested areas, even if rain comes in time to make seeding possible, there is a good possibility that these aphids will make it impossible to establish a stand of fall seeded alfalfa. Even when a field is sprayed every week, it is hard to protect seedling stands because there is so little foliage there to be covered with the spray, but aphids will move to the plant as soon as it comes through the ground.

Interpreting the News—

General Criticism of Foreign Policy Can Do US Disservice

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Some politicians are displaying a tendency to forget that generalized criticism of foreign policy can do the nation a disservice.

Almost every day someone criticizes the administration for not settling world tensions which nobody knows how to settle, and attributes Communist successes to bad policy.

These criticisms are seldom accompanied either by a bill of particulars or constructive suggestions.

The Communist know well how to take such statements out of their context as campaign generalizations and make it appear there is widespread division in the United States.

The generalizations came about because there is no fundamental difference between the parties and the men who have administered the policies. Dean Acheson criticizes Dulles now but when Acheson was secretary of state he trusted Dulles with some of the nation's most important assignments.

American foreign policy has developed along natural lines since World War II, and nobody has betrayed the underlying theme, which is to protect the United States from outside forces which threaten her from any direction. Individual circumstances have been met in the light available at the time.

Both Democrats and Republicans have produced far-seeing ideas both in tactics and long-range strategy—the Marshall plan, the Truman doctrine of aiding any country which will help itself against Communism, the Atoms-for-peace program and the "open skies" suggestion, among others. Neutralist leaders, such as Nehru of India, are giving the United States credit for avoiding a situation at the outset of the Suez dispute which they themselves say was very close to war.

No matter what happens, the United States is going to have for president a student of international affairs and an active worker for peace.

Incidentally, it is rather odd that, at this stage of the campaign, there has been no major speculation as to who might be secretary of state should Stevenson win.

But whoever is secretary will be administering a policy which has not been hand-tailored to a preconceived theory, but which has developed along with a world situation which has not been of American making.

The reason the politicians talk generalities about foreign affairs goes back to this fact. Constructive policy changes only can be produced by changes in this world situation. Unless criticism is accompanied by suggestions which might bring about such changes, it is dangerous.
